BELOVED COMMUNITY TALKS: LET'S BRIDGE THE RACIAL DIVIDE ACROSS URBAN, SUBURBAN AND RURAL AMERICA

*The King Center, The Yolanda D. King Theatre For The Performing Arts - FREE & Open to the Public

This signature event will take place before a live audience, and streamed via Facebook and promoted across national media and major social media channels.

"I am convinced that men hate each other because they don't know each other, and they don't know each other because they don't communicate with each other, and they don't communicate with each other because they are separated from each other." -MLK address to Cornell College 1962

2018

In keeping with Dr. King's assertion that people are divided because we are disconnected, The King center launched, via the Beloved Community Talks (BCT) platform, a two year campaign on the 2017 King Holiday Observance, Let's Bridge the Racial Divide across Urban, Suburban, and Rural America. The King Center will continue the campaign on the 2018 King Holiday. Our goal is to provide the roadmap and tools necessary for individuals and communities to have the challenging and courageous conversations to bridge the racial divide in America by addressing the pains and unrest of racism rooted in a historical context.

The campaign will be a national catalyst to heal the disconnect between people of America from different ideological, cultural, socioeconomic and geographic backgrounds. We know that these courageous conversations will not solve all matters regarding racism, but we do believe it is a step in the right direction of closing the divide and creating an understanding.

The 2018 Beloved Community Talks will take place on the King Holiday Observance, January 15, 2018 from 6 to 8:30 PM Eastern, and will be streamed from The King Center in Atlanta, Georgia. This BCT deal specifically with the “role of men” in bridging the racial divide.
